STATES OF REFUGE

A CONFERENCE IN RECOGNITION OF PROFESSOR KEN HARROW
AND A TRIBUTE TO THE ENGLISH GRADUATE PROGRAM

APRIL 20, 2018 | 9 AM TO 5:30 PM
302-303 INTERNATIONAL CENTER
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

ORGANIZERS:
JYOTSNA SINGH

Professor
Department of English
Michigan State University

BODE IBIRONKE
Assistant Professor
Department of English
Rutgers University

One of the defining and intractable issues in contemporary literature of the Global South, African, South Asian, and Postcolonial in general, is displaced people seeking refuge across national boundaries. This Symposium is a reflection on the different states and cycles of displacement, assimilation, and return, and of the disruptions and transformations of State institutions and structures that mediate these transitions in politics and culture.

Rethinking Silence, Gender & Power in Insecure Sites: Implications for Feminist Security Studies and Feminist Global Political Economy in a Postcolonial World

Dr. Jane Parpart, University of Massachusetts, Boston

Friday, April 20

1:30-3:00pm, B310 Wells Hall

Silence is no longer simply a symptom of powerlessness. It has emerged as a tool for empowerment, an alternative source of protection and power. Silence has become a form of action, often intertwined with voice, but powerful on its own. Dr. Parpart will discuss this more complex understanding of silence and voice in order to evaluate gender in insecure sites #MSUGlobalAfrica

Funding Opportunities

Tanzania Partnership Program

Request for Research Proposals

Deadline: April 23, 2018

The MSU Tanzania Partnership Program announces a Request for Research Proposals: Tanzanian Partnership Program (TPP) is a long-term, collaborative alliance of local and international organizations dedicated to improving local livelihoods. TPP's mission is to promote resilient communities in developing countries and create a model for sustainable prosperity. TPP has released a Request for Proposals for research grants to support:

- TPP strategic priorities: Community Empowerment and Resilience; Water Access and Quality; Education Access and Quality; Human Health Access and Quality; Animal Health and Resources; Food Security, Agriculture and Economic Development
- Research methodologies that generate new knowledge in TPP priority areas within the context of community development and empower communities to co-create innovative, sustainable solutions and improve lives.
- Research processes that embody TPP's community-engaged approach as articulated in TPP core principles: sustainable, integrative, interdisciplinary, participatory, adaptive, and collaborative.
- Interdisciplinary workgroups committed to an inclusive, adaptive design approach (e.g. human-centered design), co-led by faculty members at MSU and Tanzanian universities, and comprised of inclusive partners from local communities, governments, non-governmental organizations, and industry.

TPP research grants will provide funding for two years with a total amount not exceeding $25,000. The application deadline is April 23, 2018. Proposals should be submitted to pscddtp@msu.edu. Interested applicants are encouraged to review the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) and register for a webinar on March 29 via the TPP website <http://pscd.isp.msu.edu/>.

"Must Herskovitz Fall?" Whiteness & African Studies...

Professor Jean Allman Presentation at University of Michigan
April 17 2018, 4pm- 6pm: 4701 Haven Hall

On Tuesday, April 17, 2018 Professor Jean Allman will be visiting U-M from Washington University, St Louis. The workshop will meet as usual from 4-6PM in 4701 Haven Hall.

The provisional title of her paper is: "Must Herskovitz Fall? A Meditation on Whiteness, African Studies, and the Unfinished Business of 1968." This paper is a draft of Professor Allman's 2018 Presidential Address for the African Studies Association Annual meeting. Paper will be circulated one week prior to the workshop.

Professor Jean Allman's research is concerned with questions of nation and national identity, gender and colonialism, fashion and the politics of clothing, and the modernity and mobility of indigenous belief systems. Her new project is aimed at re-examining "nation times" - a time when the West African state of Ghana was a pivotal site for imagining an entirely new, non-aligned world; when Ghanaians, joined by a host of transnational actors (African-American activists and intellectuals, Irish and Welsh nationalists, anti-nuclear peace activists, South African communists, Caribbean Pan-Africanists) cooperated, colluded and collided over how to build a non-racial, anti-imperialist, nuclear free world at the height of the Cold War. She is author of "I Will Not Eat Stone": A Woman's History of Colonial Asante" (2000); "Fashioning Africa: Power and the Politics of Dress" (2004) and TONGNAAB: The History of a West African God (2005).
