Travel with Quantitative Literacy MTH102 this year and gain real-world knowledge and skills in the understanding of numbers, data and numerical tools used in everyday life and travel, all while placing emphasis on gaining insight into global issues and expanding your world-view and cultural understanding.

Experience 3 weeks traveling through the beautiful country of South Africa, as we make our way through Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, Durban, Johannesburg and Greater Kruger National Park. Several opportunities will present themselves along the way to learn and apply the curriculum outside of the classroom, making this a fascinating alternative to the traditional classroom experience.
