Spring #9

Our Sincerest Condolences...

We have recently learned about the passing of our colleague, Professor Pius Adesanmi, who was among the victims of the Ethiopian Airlines plane crash on Sunday, March 10. Dr Adesanmi was, among other things, the Director of the Institute of African Studies at Carleton University in Ottawa.

Our sympathies go out to his family and friends, as well as to all those whose loved ones passed away in the tragedy.

This is the Year of Global Africa!

The Year of Global Africa explores MSU's rich history and connection with our many partners across Africa and throughout the African Diaspora through diverse scholarship, engagement, and activities. The weekly Newsletter provides a list of upcoming events, speaker presentations, tea times, conferences, jobs and other exciting opportunities related to the Year of Global Africa

Michigan State University Libraries Community Cataloging Program Call for expressions of interest

Do you have skills in an African language? Do you want to work to make African language materials accessible at the MSU Libraries?

We seek individuals with excellent knowledge of African languages to participate in a community cataloging event. These experts in language and culture will work in teams with a professional cataloger to create records of materials from various African countries.

Our first two sessions will be held in April:
Wednesday, April 10th , from 6pm- 9pm
Saturday, April 13th , from 10:30am- 1:30pm

Experts will be compensated for their participation, and there will be refreshments at each session. Selection of experts will be made by mid-March.

If you would like to learn more or you are interested in participating, please contact Jessica Martin at achberg2@msu.edu.

MSU Conferences

Call for Papers

The African Graduate Student Association Conference 2019
Friday March 29, 10AM - 5PM at Michigan State University
Deadline: March 15, 2019

The African Graduate Student Association (AGSA) invites you to their 4th Annual Conference. The conference intends to create a forum where African and Africanist scholars discuss the transformation of Africa. Building upon past AGSA conferences, this year's conference seeks to interrogate how localized activities in different spaces (on the continent and in the diaspora) are transforming Africa in the global context, while also interrogating what the continent's future challenges and prospects are.

We invite graduate and undergraduate students (MSU and Non-MSU) to submit abstracts for an oral or poster presentation. The abstract should be 250 words long and should be submitted by March 15, 2019, 11.59 pm EST.

If you will be presenting as a panel, submit an abstract and proposed theme for the panel. The submission should also list all panelists and their individual titles. Panels should include no more than five papers.

Submit your abstract at the link below

The Urgency of a Black Feminist Solidarity Project in the Americas
Thursday, 14 March, 3:00 p.m - 4:30 p.m.
Case Hall, Room 332

Dr. Keisha-Khan Y. Perry, Associate Professor of Africana Studies at Brown University, specializes in the critical study of race, gender, and politics in the Americas. Perry is currently working on a multi-lingual and transnational exploration of black women's political work in Latin America by critically examining how black women mobilize political movements across borders and how they understand themselves as agents in creating a diasporic community. Two MSU faculty members will offer commentary based on their own scholarship: Leonora Paula from RCAH and Tamara Butler from the Department of English. More info here.

Sustainable Coffee Development in Rwanda
Tuesday, 16 April, 12:00 p.m - 1:30 p.m
Room 201, International Center

Dr. Ammeet Morjaria (Managerial Economics & Decision Sciences, Northwestern University) and MSU faculty, Dr. Maria Claudia Lopez (Community Sustainability) and Dr. David Ortega (Agricultural, Food and Resource Economics) will discuss their research on the development of Rwanda's specialty coffee sector. MSU PhD Candidate Andrew Gerard (Community Sustainability) will provide background on MSU's work on coffee in Rwanda and facilitate the discussion. More info here.

Lattice Book Club

Wednesday March 27, 4:30pm - 6:00pm.
Digital Scholarship Lab (3rd Floor, MSU Library)

The LATTICE Book Club will meet on Wednesday March 27, 2019 from 4:30 - 6:00. We will meet in the Digital Scholarship Lab on the third floor of the MSU Main Library.

We will begin by watching a 30 minute special exhibit: Remembering the Rwanda Genocide Against the Tutsi 25 Years Later: A 360-Degree Immersive Visualization Exhibit. Erik Ponder, African Studies Librarian will be our host for this. Erik visited Rwanda last summer and is the Curator of the exhibit. The exhibit makes use of some of his photographs and interviews.

After the exhibit, we will discuss the book The Girl Who Smiled Beads: A Story of War and What Comes After by Clemantine Wamariya and Elizabeth Weil. LATTICE Session Director Robert Lurie, who also visited Rwanda last year, will lead us in the discussion.

All are welcome! Questions? email latticebookclub@gmail.com

Democracy in Africa: Demand, Supply, and the 'Dissatisfied Democrat'

Afrobarometer Survey Results
Digital Scholarship Lab (3rd Floor, MSU Library)

Most Africans still want democracy, but fewer than one in six qualify as "dissatisfied democrats" who will protect against authoritarian backsliding, a new Afrobarometer study reveals.

In the second of its Pan-Africa Profiles based on recent public-opinion surveys in 34 countries, Afrobarometer reports that contrary to fears of a democratic recession, large majorities of Africans continue to support democracy and reject authoritarian alternatives. But fewer Africans are getting the democracy they demand, the analysis shows, and even fewer - just 15% - are insistent enough on better democracy to form a bulwark against authoritarian encroachment.

The new report, available at this link, provide in-depth analysis tracking popular demand for democracy and perceived supply of democracy over time, identifying attitudes and trends that vary widely by country and demographic group.

Transforming Institutions Strategic Funding Invitation for Proposals 2019

(Open only to AAP Consortium members)

(AAP Consortium members include MSU, Egerton University, Makerere University, University of Dar es Salaam, Lilongwe University of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Botswana, University of Nigeria, Nsukka, University Cheikh Anta Diop, University of Arts and Humanities, Bamako)

The Alliance for African Partnership (AAP) seeks proposals from AAP consortium members and their partners for activities which directly address AAP's Transforming Institutions pillar (transforming institutions to be better able to participate in sustainable, equitable, and research-driven partnerships that make a broader impact on transforming lives). Successful applicants will receive seed funding to develop international strategic partnerships with universities, institutions of higher education and research, and organizations in the public or NGO sectors. Travel can include any of the following-- within Africa, to Africa from external locations, to the US or to other locations outside of Africa. The partnerships should focus specifically on institutional strengthening and capacity development.

Eligibility

- Proposals should include co-PIs from each of the partner institutions included in the proposal and must include at least two AAP consortium members (AAP Consortium members include MSU, Egerton University, Makerere University, University of Dar es Salaam, Lilongwe University of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Botswana, University of Nigeria, Nsukka, University Cheikh Anta Diop, University of Arts and Humanities, Bamako).
- Those previously supported through an AAP transforming institutions strategic travel grant are not eligible to apply.
- Faculty members may only be listed (as PI or as team member) on one proposal submitted to AAP in this round of funding.
- Proposed activities should take place before December 31, 2019

For detailed information visit: <https://aap.isp.msu.edu/research-funding/transforming-institutions-call-proposals/>
