Study one year of Arabic in two months while in the imperial, coastal city of Rabat, Morocco.

Centered in the Andalusian and capital city of Rabat, students will cover two semesters of Modern Standard Arabic (at any level), while discovering Morocco's rich history and culture. MSU partners with Qalam wa Lawh Center, an acclaimed Arabic language center, featuring seasoned Professors, a range of content courses, a library and language labs, workshops, guest lectures, and many extracurricular and cultural activities such as Arabic calligraphy while enjoying a world-famed Moroccan cooking.

We will have local excursions to Rabat's historical sites, the oldest of which are from the 12th century. In addition, the group will take three road trips. We'll camp in the sand dunes of Merzouga, in the Sahara desert. We'll visit the blue city of Chefchaouen and Tangier and Assilah, on the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts. And we'll travel to Casablanca and explore the historic city of Marrakech and its famed Jemaa el-Fnaa square and medina.
