African Tea Time is an opportunity to learn and share about first-hand experiences on the African continent. The tea times are open to everyone!
This Thursday: Kenya & Egypt
November 14th
4:00-6:00p
International Center, Room 303
Mosa Phadi
From Stellenbosch University, South Africa

The Multiple Consciousness of Blackness: Race and Class in South Africa

Thursday Nov. 7th 12:00-1:30p
International Center Room 201

Lunch will be provided

https://africa.isp.msu.edu/programs/eye-africa/

---

FLAS Scholarship

Fellowships for graduate and undergraduate studies in African languages and area studies are available through the African Studies Center, provided by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education. They are designed for American (or permanent resident) students who plan to utilize a modern foreign language in their future careers.

FLAS Fellowships provide academic year undergraduates with $10,000 towards tuition and fees, and a stipend of $5,000. For graduate students, FLAS Fellowships provide $18,000 toward tuition and fees for the academic year, and $15,000 in stipends. Summer FLAS recipients receive $5,000 in tuition and a $2,000 stipend.

For more info visit: African Studies Center’s website
Contact Dr. Sarr: sarrawa@msu.edu

---

GYAN Open Discussion

GYAN is currently promoting a new event for student-led conversations. This is a safe space for students to talk about issues concerning a wide variety of topics. If you’re looking to start an open conversation about pressing issues, email your specific topics to gyaninfo@msu.edu by November 15.

#WhatCanWeDoTogether

---

Paper and Activism Awards

The Center for Gender in Global Context invites MSU undergraduate students to look into the awards we offer. The Research Consortium on Gender-based Violence (RCGV) in collaboration with the Center for Gender in Global Context (GenCen) is excited to provide a $250 RCGV Award for the best undergraduate paper related to gender-based violence. The Tracy Dobson Award specifically celebrates an MSU
African Postdoctoral Training Initiative (APTI)

The African Postdoctoral Training Initiative (APTI) is currently soliciting applications for a second cohort of fellows, with applications due December 1, 2019. APTI is supported by the African Academy of Sciences (AAS), the U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH), and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation to promote the training of early-career African scientists in the field of biomedical research.

Please visit the Postdoctoral Training Opportunity Website for more information about the program and application process.

Apply before December 1st, 2019.

Sign up for HST 830: African Sport and Society

Using soccer and other sport such as wrestling, boxing, and running, this seminar explores the relationship of sport and society in African history. Major questions to be discussed include: Was sport used as a tool of European imperialism or did it represent African peoples’ accommodation or resistance to foreign domination? How did governments, elites, and ordinary people seek to use the power of sports? How have national, racial, ethnic, gender, community, and class identities been expressed in the game? How have sports icons influenced ideas about honor, heroism, and beauty? How has global capitalism changed sport? This class is taught by Prof. Peter Alegi in Spring 2020 on Mondays, 4:10-7:00 PM in 355 Old Horticulture.

Call For Applications!

The African Humanities Program is calling for new Postdoctoral Fellowship Applications

Application Deadline: November 20, 2019, 9:00pm GMT

We are pleased to announce that the ACLS African Humanities Program is now accepting applications for 2019-20 postdoctoral fellowships. The deadline to apply for an AHP Postdoctoral Fellowship is November 20, 2019, 9pm GMT.

Please email any questions to: ofahelp@ACLS.org